

Workshop Announcement

"BEHAVIOURAL ENVIRONMENTAL ECONOMICS"

11th and 12th October 2012

Toulouse School of Economics (TSE)
21 allée de Brienne, 31000 Toulouse, France

The purpose of the workshop is to bring together researchers in behavioural economics, environmental economics and psychology to present and discuss their on going research on issues at the interface between economics, environment, psychology and public policy.

Possible topics include:

- Consumers' attitude and behaviour toward green products
- Citizens' perception of environmental risks
- Climate change understanding and reaction
- Moral feelings (guilt, shame, pride, etc.) regarding environmental issues
- Counter-consumerism movements
- Environmental norms and values
- Individual and corporate social responsibility
- Green nudges
- The psychology of environmental tax / quantity regulation

Organization: About 15 papers will be selected for presentation. Conference organizers will provide three-day accommodation, food and reimburse economy travel costs for invited presenters. A special session for PhD students may be organised.

Papers (or a 2-page abstract) must be submitted to confbeh2012@tse-fr.eu (please indicate when you submit to the PhD session)

Further questions regarding the scientific content of the conference should be addressed to the conference organizer: Nicolas Treich (ntreich@toulouse.inra.fr)

Important dates:

Deadline for submission of a paper: May 1, 2012

Notification of acceptance: June 1, 2012

Scientific committee:

Chairman: Nicolas Treich (Toulouse School of Economics)

Denis Hilton (University of Toulouse Le Mirail)

Astrid Hopfensitz (Toulouse School of Economics)

Charles Raux (Transport Economics Laboratory, University of Lyon)

Jean Tirole (Toulouse School of Economics)

Maja Becker (University of Toulouse Le Mirail)

Workshop website : TSE link

Logistical arrangements: confbeh2012@tse-fr.eu

